You may not know us, but you have enjoyed our accomplishments

Coconino County manages six county parks and two natural areas featuring a multitude of natural, cultural, and historic amenities. There are miles of non-motorized, multi-use trails visitors can enjoy. Our parks offer year-round programs as well as public and private events. Parks and natural areas are open 6 a.m. – 10 p.m. General entrance is free. There may be an additional cost for reserving ramadas, special events and programs.

FORT TUTHILL COUNTY PARK

Outdoor enthusiasts can enjoy multi-use trails, bike park, campground, disc golf course, archery, watchable wildlife viewing, picnic ramadas, and many events and outdoor recreation programs. Flagstaff Snow Park is your winter wonderland and is located in the park.

RAYMOND COUNTY PARK

Raymond County Park is in Kachina Village, seven miles south of Flagstaff and located adjacent to Pumphouse County Natural Area. Visitors can enjoy a ball field, ramadas, basketball court, climbing wall, playgrounds, wildlife viewing, and a pond.

SAWMILL MULTICULTURAL ART AND NATURE COUNTY PARK

Built on a “brownfield” where one of Flagstaff’s first sawmills operated from 1908 to 1993. Meander around the habitat gardens and see how a contaminated site can be reclaimed. Public art celebrates the diversity of the surrounding community. Visitors will enjoy a ramada, picnic tables, playground, and habitat demonstration gardens. The adjacent Willow Bend Environment Education Center hosts various programs and events.

ROGERS LAKE COUNTY NATURAL AREA

This is a high-elevation wetland southwest of Flagstaff. The natural area features an ephemeral wetland and forested uplands (water may not be present year-round). The area is important to wildlife, including elk, black bear, pronghorn, bald eagles, and migrating waterfowl. The area boasts a rich cultural history and a wide variety of native plants. Visitors can enjoy a trail system and views of the San Francisco Peaks.
